

Stamp on Envelope International Polar Year

Your envelope has one of a se-tenant pair of domestic rate stamps issued to further awareness of International Polar Year (IPY) and an intense international scientific initiative. This is the fourth time an International Polar Year has been declared. The whole idea of international scientific cooperation was presented by Austrian naval officer Lieu. Karl Weyprecht in 1875 to a meeting of German natural philosophers and physicians. This led to the first IPY seven years later. For the first time northern indigenous people are being consulted as partners in research. (Maybe there is hope for us!) We are all becoming considerably more aware of how climate change is affecting the Polar Regions and the potential devastating effects this may have on the ecosystems of the entire world. Scary stuff!

As scary as the subject of climate change may be, the images are quite handsome. One stamp portrays a king eider, a very colourful and odd sort of duck. King eiders are considered to be circumpolar and are found in Canada, Alaska and Greenland. The second image is a bright red jellyfish only recently discovered. This little creature is actually portrayed life-sized!

These stamps have been issued as a souvenir sheet on February 12th along with souvenir sheets from seven other countries. The pair is not separated by a border, but does have a maple leaf perforation similar to the China/Canada Big Cat joint issue. All eight souvenir sheets are available as a packet from Canada Post for $29.99.

They are also issued as a pane of sixteen stamps with a gutter strip format not used in Canada before. The colour bar is depicted as a thermometer and the Tullis Russell paper code is applied as a Celsius figure in the gutter strip. Along with French and English the souvenir sheet and the pane also feature Inuktitut. Befittingly the first day cover has a cancellation from Igloolik, Nunavit.

For further information see "details" from Canada Post.

New year Annual General Meeting and Elections Wed. Feb. 21, 2007

From the President...

Yes indeed it is time for our annual general meeting and elections. It is important that every one is present for this meeting. Bob Ford will be presenting our financial statement.

Any one interested in serving on the executive please contact me as to what position you wish to serve in.

As many of you are aware we have had some trouble with getting out our newsletter and wish to thank Marion Ace for her effort on this month's issue.

Please remember that membership dues are now due and Bob Ford will be collecting them at this meeting and updating membership info.

On a sadder note Perry Cockburn passed away recently and Charles van Rompu passed at Christmas time both will be missed by all of us, I am sure.

A major club auction will be the main activity at this meeting with 37 lots already prepared, and listed in the news letter, please feel free to bring additional material and lots of cash.

Well that is all for now.

President OSSC
Alan M Charlesworth

From the Editor...

As Alan mentioned, our interim editor Perry Cockburn passed away recently. His friendly presence will be greatly missed. Our sympathy goes out to his widow Elizabeth.

I've got some big shoes to fill, but I'll give this a try for a bit. Amongst our motley crew, I am about the least knowledgeable person on the subject of stamps. I tell you this with the great hope that some of you will want to share some of your wisdom on these pages. If there is anything you would like to submit, request, announce or wax poetic about, please let me know. Criticism is welcome too, but if you think that this humble newsletter will be anything like the masterpieces that Bob Watson produced, well... tone down on the meds!
